DATABASE OVERVIEW

Geography and Time Period:

The primary census data is focused mostly on census tracts (a proxy for neighbourhoods) in Toronto, Oshawa, Hamilton, Montréal and Vancouver Census Metropolitan Areas 1971, 1981, 1991, 1996, 2001 and 2006 in various formats that facilitate mapping and analysis in a Geographic Information Systems (GIS). In 2012, this was expanded to include the Calgary, Winnipeg, Halifax, Edmonton, Ottawa and Québec City CMAs.

A significant portion of the primary data has been acquired from the 1971-2006 Census Profile series via the UofT Data and Map Library Service and the Chass Census Analyzer. Some custom census tabulations have been purchased by the Cities Centre. This is supplemented by various other secondary non-census datasets.

Due to the limited scope of the Census in 1976 and the absence of spatial data files for mapping purposes, there is no data stored for that year. Data from Census 1986 is sparse and seldom used as there is a very limited variable selection and some variable definitions are incompatible with data in other years (recent immigrant time periods for example are inconsistent). Some 1986 census boundary files (e.g. Calgary census tracts) are not useable without significant repairs.

Some CMAs have boundary and water alignment issues as the level of detail varies over time. Statistics Canada has not consistently clipped the boundaries to shorelines for every year 1971-20011 and in some years left lake hole polygons in the boundary files. There has been some geometric editing work done, particularly in Halifax, to improve the boundaries for cartographic presentation purposes over time.

Much of the census data can also be studied other scales such as Dissemination Areas, Census Subdivisions (municipalities), Forward Sortation Areas and individual households (microdata) but comparisons across time may be difficult or not possible due to changing boundaries, variable definitions and other factors.

PRIMARY DATA HOLDINGS: CANADA CENSUS TIME SERIES

Due to changing census definitions and content over time, the time periods listed below is only a guide of what is available and not an exhaustive list. Additional information can be found at the UofT Data Library website under the Census sections or on the Statistics Canada website.

Access Restrictions: Original custom data files purchased by Cities Centre cannot be shared in their raw form due to the End Use License Agreement with Statistics Canada. Access is limited to value-added research output (summary tables, statistics, maps, graphs) produced by the Cities Centre.

Other datasets may be restricted exclusively to the Canadian university community (faculty, staff, students) covered by the Data Liberation Initiative (DLI) agreement with Statistics Canada.

Major Themes and Time Period of Availability

The Census 2006 Dictionary is a valuable resource for finding data availability organized by theme/variable. For each theme/variable, it indicates the census years the data was reported and any important definition changes made over time. The dictionary is available as a webpage and PDF file here: <http://www12.statcan.ca/census-recensement/2006/ref/dict/index-eng.cfm>

Also check the variable list in the Chass Census Analyzer for each year:

<http://dc.chass.utoronto.ca/census/>

The following section will summarize the major census data holdings of the Cities Centre (including custom data) organized by time period of availability, from earliest year to the most recent, and indicate important points about geography and data definitions.

Geography Note: if geography is not stated in this section then assume data is most likely stored for Montréal, Toronto, Oshawa, Hamilton, Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Halifax, Winnipeg, Quebec City, Ottawa CMAs census tracts only at this time and can usually be downloaded for other CMAs as needed
